Burr's Self Control.

Aaron Burr was by nature and training a man of extraordinary self control. He allowed no circumstances to throw him off his balance. An anecdote told by Rufus Choate to Richard H. Dana, recorded in Mr. Dana's "Diary," illustrates the callousness which aided Burr so greatly in controlling himself. Several years after the death of Hamilton, killed by Burr in a duel, Burr visited Boston, and Mr. Devereux of Salem paid him some attentions. The visitor was taken to the Boston Athenaeum, where, while the two men were walking through the gallery of sculpture, Mr. Devereux happened to catch sight of a bust of Hamilton. The thought flashed across his mind that Burr might not care to be confronted with the sight of the features of the man he had slain. But no. Burr was undisturbed. He also espied the bust, and although Mr. Devereux had instinctively turned away, he walked up to it and said in a loud tone: "Ah! Here is Hamilton!" Then, passing his fingers along certain lines of the face, he added, "There was the poetry!" Hamilton's contemporaries gave him credit for possessing a poetic mind.

When Beau Nash and Wesley Met. Beau Nash, though but an indifferent churchgoer, not only went to hear Whitefield preach, but attended a service at Bath held by John Wesley. The incident is related in Southey's "Life of Wesley."

While he was preaching this remarkable personage entered the room, came close to the preacher and demanded of him by what authority he was acting. Wesley made answer, "By that of Jesus Christ, conveyed to me by the present archbishop of Canterbury, when he laid his hands upon me and said, 'Take thou authority to preach the gospel.'" Nash then affirmed that he was acting contrary to the laws. "Besides," said he, "your preaching frightens people out of their wits." "Sir," replied Wesley, "did you ever hear me preach? 'No,' said the master of ceremonies. 'How, then, can you judge of what you never heard?' Nash made answer, 'By common report.' 'Sir,' said Wesley, 'is not your name Nash? I dare not judge of you by common report. I think it not enough to judge by.'"

To Save You Time. Have you ever noticed that when reading you waste a certain amount of time in turning from the end of one line to the beginning of the next? Long ago, when the world was not so busy as now, columns were of a much greater width. Since then they have been narrowed more and more. Of course in an hour's reading little time is lost, but in a lifetime it is likely to be considerable. Realizing this, some one has suggested that type should be arranged as follows. You read to the end of the line, drop the eyes and read backward:

What a luxury touchy dear of the inevitable ta keab repnacs the end of each e't'w'ee's enl done?

The argument is that practice will make perfect. Five minutes' practice is usually found more than sufficient for most people.—Pearson's.

The Power of Napoleon. The desperate struggle to do something worth while is the very thing which draws out our reserve forces and develops latent power, says Orison Swett Marden in Success Magazine. Without this struggle many people would never have discovered their real selves. Napoleon was never so resourceful, never so level headed, never had that vigorous mental grasp, was never able to make such powerful combinations, as when he was driven to desperation. It was when all bridges were burned behind him and there was no possibility of retreat that the possible Napoleon came to the rescue. Napoleon said of his great general Messena that he never showed his mettle until he saw the wounded and dead falling all around him in battle. Then the lion in him was aroused, and he fought like a demon.

Enlightenment. "Father," remarked Johnny after deep thought, "suppose I should knock this jug off the table and catch it, then I wouldn't catch it, would I?" "No, I suppose not," his father slowly said. "But," continued Johnny, still toying with the jug, "if I should knock it off and not catch it, then I would catch it, wouldn't I?" "Yes, you would," his father grimly returned, this time with quick decision.

Well Connected. The Maple—What is the oak so conceited about? The Elm—He is the original oak under which Washington stopped in 1776. The Maple—But the souvenir friends have left him only a blackened stump. The Elm—That's it. He has extensive branches in every city and town in the country.—Puck.

A Hard Question. Bobby—What was the hardest question the teacher asked you today? Johnny—She asked me whether I'd rather be licked with a ruler or a strap.—Chicago News.

Unromantic. "Anything romantic about their wedding?" "Not a thing. She can cook, and he has a job."—Kansas City Journal.

A Fierce Threat. Maid—Do you want a good beating, Master Jimmy, or do you not, because if you don't behave yourself this minute you'll get both?

Her Peace Offering

A Story Showing That Women Are Not All Alike.

By PETER G. TRASK.

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

"My dear," said Dr. Joe Bemerton as he threw off his coat and hat, tossing his heavy driving gloves into the latter, "I'll be hanged if I go out again tonight if I'm called by a multi-millionaire."

"Oh, Joe, I'm so glad! You look awfully tired, and just think how long it is since we've had a quiet evening together."

"Right you are, Pol. I'll get on my velvet jacket, put on my easy shoes, sit down before these blazing logs with you beside me, and we'll have a real old fashioned evening—like our courtship days, eh, sweetheart?"

He tweaked her ear and gave her a kiss.

"Won't it be nice? You can sit in the big chair right before the flame, while I sit in my little working rocker beside you and darn the stockings."

As soon as dinner was over the doctor pulled the big chair up to the fireplace and drew his wife down on his knee. She had weighed a hundred pounds when they courted. Now she weighed a hundred and fifty. Bemerton had had several obstinate cases during the day and was tired. It wasn't five minutes before he remarked that he had strained a muscle in his left leg when getting out of his auto, slipping on a bit of ice. He thought that they'd better sit side by side. So Mrs. Bemerton got off his knee and with an effort succeeded in squeezing in beside him. If she had gained fifty pounds he had gained more, so that instead of the aggregate bulk of 215 pounds between the two arms of the chair, as in their courtship days, there were now 350. However, they managed to wedge themselves in, and Mrs. Bemerton leaned back on her husband's arm.

"Just as nice as ever it was," he said gallantly.

They sat chatting for awhile, but the topics they talked about as lovers did not seem to rise up with the spontaneity of former days. There were long gaps in the conversation. The doctor yawned.

"We don't need to talk all the while," she said drowsily. "Remember what a clatter we used to keep up?"

"I wonder how we did it."

"Did it! We didn't do it. It did it self."

There was a lull, during which the doctor's eyes closed, and he was beginning to draw the heavy breath of slumber when his wife started in anew.

"Do you know, Joe," she said, "that wretched butcher sent in the most abominable steak this morning—all bone and gristle?"

"Yes, dear, but my arm is cramped. If you'll raise a bit I'll move it."

"He moved the arm and was sinking again to a snooze when the telephone bell rang."

"I'll go," said Mrs. Bemerton, starting up.

"No," "You wouldn't understand." And the doctor went to the telephone.

"Yes, I'm Dr. Bemerton."

Reply.

"I'm pretty tired."

Reply.

"Is he?"

Reply.

"Suffering much?"

Reply.

"Well, I suppose I'll have to go."

Mrs. Bemerton, who was listening, sighed. The doctor came back into the room the picture of woe.

"Now, Joe, you said you wouldn't go out again tonight for a millionaire. You're tired out. In another moment you'd have been asleep. Why didn't you refuse?"

"How could I? If you were suffering and called for a physician to relieve you and he declined to go, what would you think of him?"

"Well, I suppose it can't be helped. Will you ride?"

"No, it's not far. I'll walk."

She helped the poor man on with his overcoat. He gave her a parting kiss and as he went out said:

"If I'm going to be delayed I'll telephone you, and you're not to sit up, but go to bed like a dear, good little woman, and I'll come in without disturbing you and sleep in my own room. Ta-ta, sweetheart!"

Mrs. Bemerton's regret was that her liege lord must go out after a hard day's work into a cold night to incur more responsibility. She was a practical woman and had discovered very soon that the return to courtship days would not be a success. She was not therefore disturbed at the interruption on that account. Indeed, she was relieved.

As soon as the front door closed behind him Dr. Bemerton hastened his steps. A few blocks away was his club, and thither he went. Leaving his overcoat at the coat room, he went into the cafe and there found Drs. Nichols and Gilson, who hailed his entrance with shouts of satisfaction.

"What did you mean," exclaimed Bemerton to Nichols, with mock severity, "by telling me that the patient was suffering and I must come at once to relieve him?"

"I meant this," replied Nichols—"that Gilson is suffering for some one to split a bottle of ginger ale with him. As for me, I'm suffering for something of the same kind."

"Ha, ha!" laughed Bemerton. "You fellows will be the death of me some day. It doesn't seem as if one of us can have any fun without the other two or any two without the other one."

Dr. Bemerton sat down, and Nichols pushed the button, and when beverages had been ordered Bemerton said to the waiter:

"Peter, I wish you to telephone my wife that the case is very serious, there are three doctors in consultation, and I'll probably be detained till a late hour. Say I haven't even time to do the telephoning. Now, be careful, Peter. Don't give away where the message comes from."

"Ha, ha!" laughed Nichols. "Three doctors in consultation! Good! Very good!"

"Consulting as to which is preferable as a diluent—ginger ale or fizz water," laughed Gilson.

Peter had served twenty years at the club and knew how to send such telephone messages very well, but he was head waiter, and his responsibilities were multifarious. Being especially crowded tonight, he transferred the order to a greenhorn who had worn the club's button but a few days. This was the message sent to the doctor's wife:

"Dr. Bemerton is here at the club in consultation with two other doctors. He won't be home till late, mum."

"All right," came the response. "Tell the doctor not to hurry and that I think a Welsh rabbit or a stuffed crab will do him good."

Then the greenhorn goes to the three doctors in consultation and says to Dr. Bemerton:

"Docter, Mrs. Bemerton says yer not to hurry, and she thinks a stuffed crab or a rabbit 'll do ye good."

Bemerton, who was raising his glass to his lips, stopped it on the way.

"Who phoned her?"

"I did, sor. Peter told me to. He was busy."

"And did you tell her I was at the club?"

"Shure, sor. Where else would I tell her?"

"That'll do," said Bemerton to the waiter, who went off puzzled.

"Well, boys," said Bemerton, "I'm in for it." And he told the story of how he had started in for a return to courtship days, accusing them of breaking in upon his and his wife's happiness.

"You must do something mighty nice," said Gilson, "to get out of this muddle. My wife would never forgive me for a thing like that."

"What can I do?" asked Bemerton.

"Give her a seal skin," suggested Nichols.

"She has one. Besides, that would require time. I've got to face her tonight when I go home."

"The only thing you can do," said Gilson, "that can be done tonight is to telephone to a flower shop and have them send you a fine mess of flowers to take home with you."

Bemerton was not favorably impressed with the plan. He said that he had forgotten every anniversary of his wedding day as it came round and the customary gift, his wife reminding him of it a month after it had passed. To take her flowers now seemed like giving her taffy. However, at that hour it was the only thing he could do, so, calling up a flower shop, he directed the proprietor to send the handsomest basket of flowers he could make up. Then he threw off care and, with his friends, spent a delightful evening, marked only by a telephone message from Dr. Gilson's better half to know if he was at the club and one from a patient of Dr. Nichols asking if the medicine he had ordered had better be taken at 11 o'clock or a quarter past 11.

But all good times must come to an end, and the trio at last separated. At the door of the club Bemerton's two friends admonished him to do a lot of petting when he got home, confessing himself a brute and relying on the floral gift to get matters right. Bemerton didn't say anything. He knew his wife and that she was not one to be coddled.

When the doctor opened his front door he found the lights turned down and the silence of oblivion. Excellent! Perhaps his wife was asleep. He would not have to face her till morning. Taking off his shoes and leaving the flowers in the hall, he crept up stairs.

"That you, dear?" came a voice from his wife's bedroom. "Had a good time? Hope you didn't eat anything to upset your stomach."

"Only stuffed crab, as you suggested. You're not angry with me, are you, dear?"

"Angry! Why should I be? I was well pleased when I learned you were at the club instead of being with sick people. Only you might as well have told me where you were going. It would have been a relief to me."

"By Jove, what a sensible woman you are! Both Gilson and Nichols said their wives would be furious. They suggested that I bring you a ten dollar basket of flowers to pacify you—ha, ha!"

"Flowers! Don't you bring me flowers when Billy needs a new overcoat and Jennie hasn't a decent dress for her name. If you had spent $10 for such worthless things I'd have sent them right back tomorrow to the shop you got them from."

Mrs. Bemerton didn't see her husband or his expression when she said this, and it is well she did not. "I'll just go down and fix the furnace before turning in," he called. "It's going to be a cold night."

Mrs. Bemerton heard coal shoveled into the furnace, but she did not hear a beautiful ten dollar basket of flowers thrown in at the same time.

The next morning Dr. Bemerton made his first call at the flower shop, where he paid for the penitential gift.

A Merited Rebuke.

At the age of eighty-six Mrs. Reynolds still found much zest in life, and, having retained all her faculties, she felt that a few of the physical disabilities of her age were of small account and portended nothing. Her nephew Thomas was a man of much worth, but of a certain tactlessness of speech, which always roused the ire of his aunt.

A few weeks before the old lady's eighty-seventh birthday Thomas, who had been overweighed with business cares for years, started on a trip round the world which was to consume two years.

"I've come to say goodbye," he announced when he appeared at his aunt's house in a town fifty miles distant from his home. "I'm starting round the world next week, and as I'm to be gone two years and perhaps longer I thought I might not ever—well, you understand, I wanted to be sure to see you once more."

The old lady leaned forward, fixing him with her beaklike eyes.

"Thomas," she said imperatively, "do you mean to tell me the doctor doesn't think you'll live to get back?"—Youth's Companion.

Perpetual Motion.

Little Jimmy had arrived at the questioning age. He had just made an inquiry concerning perpetual motion of his father.

"No," said his father; "nobody has ever discovered perpetual motion yet." But Jimmy was not quite satisfied.

"What is perpetual motion like, dad?" he asked next.

His father thought a moment. "Why, it's pretty hard to say, Jimmy," he replied, "but it's something that keeps going and going forever. Here is an illustration. I once saw a woman in a train who had put on her gloves. She then tried to button her right hand glove, but she found that she must take off her left hand glove to do so. She took it off and buttoned the right hand glove. Then she saw that in order to button her left hand glove she must take off her right hand glove, which she did. Then she put on her left hand glove, buttoned it and put on the right hand glove again. But she couldn't button her right hand glove with her left hand glove on, so she took off—That, Jimmy," he said after a pause for breath, "is what perpetual motion would be like if you could get it."

A Remarkable Dinner Service.

The remarkable dinner service made by Josiah Wedgwood for the Russian empress, Catherine II., in 1774 consists of 952 pieces, and on each piece is painted a different view. Here is a list of a pale brimstone color, and the views are painted in a rich mulberry purple. As the service was intended to be used at the palace of La Grenouillere (meaning marshy place full of frogs), each piece also bears a green frog within a shield on the rim. The views represent British ruined castles, abbeys, parks, bridges, towers, etc. Several pieces are decorated with views of Hampstead, and there are custard cups with views of Richmond and sauce boats with the scenery of Windsor park. In many cases the views are the only pictorial records left of the old buildings. Altogether there are 1,282 views painted on the 952 pieces.—Connoisseur.

What Was Missing.

Dr. Watson (Ian MacLaren) used to tell a story about his trip to the Holy Land, to which he had been looking forward for a number of years with pleasurable anticipation.

As he was nearing the center of historic Palestine he met an American who was making all haste to get away. After such greetings as two English speaking men making in a foreign country might exchange the American asked Dr. Watson where he was going.

"To Jerusalem," was the reply.

"Jerusalem!" exclaimed the American in tones of unfeigned disgust. "You don't want to go there. I've just come away. It's a slow town. Why, there isn't a single daily newspaper in the whole place!"

The Flag at Half Mast.

The custom of showing the flag at half mast originated from the way at sea of showing the pre-eminence one ship had over the other in time of warfare. The vanquished always had to lower its flag, while the victor's would be raised as high as possible in exultation. To lower a flag is an act of submission or betokens respect to a superior or is a signal of distress. The hoisting of a flag half mast high came to be used, therefore, as a sign of mourning and respect.

Not Enough to Go Around. "What are you laughing at, dear?" asked a fond mother of a little four-year-old miss who seemed to be greatly amused.

"Oh, at something funny that happened," was the reply, "but it's no use to tell you, because it isn't funny enough for both of us to laugh at."—Chicago News.

"What selection is that the orchestra has just finished?"

"I don't know. Sounded to me like neuralgia expressed in music."—London Tit-Bits.

Hypnotism and Marriage.

A Georgian complains that his wife "has hypnotized him." That is a habit women have; otherwise there would be no marriage.—Charleston News and Courier.

Motor Car Service Through Sonoma Valley

The proposition of a motor car service between Santa Rosa, Sonoma and Napa has been taken up between the Chamber of Commerce of the former city and the Southern Pacific Company, which has been appealed to for this much-needed service.

It now behooves the people of this valley to get busy and render every assistance in their power to the Santa Rosa Chamber of Commerce in its commendable undertaking. Do not sit supinely down and let Santa Rosa do it all, but brace up and help boost this motive car service into an actuality. It is bound to come sooner or later and why not now?

A Reformer Gets Life Imprisonment.

Willard Thomas, the howling hypocritical "christian" and temperance reformer of Santa Rosa, who cut the throat of a babe and shortly after sang in the choir of his church, has been found guilty of murder in the first degree with life imprisonment. He was convicted in the Superior Court of this county Thursday. His crime was a most revolting one. The babe was born last January a few months after the marriage of the Thomas's. It was to cover up his wife's shame that he cut the throat of the infant a few hours after its birth and cast the body in the murky waters of Santa Rosa creek. The crime was traced to the convicted man and he must now pay the penalty of trying to appear respectable in the eyes of his neighbors. That the fiend was a hypocrite no better proof is wanting than the fact that he pretended to be a devout Christian engaged in the task of purifying his environment and it was with this pretended object in view that he took a leading part in the anti-saloon movement in Santa Rosa about a year ago, railing against those engaged in the liquor traffic and posing before a deluded and prejudiced public as the simon-pure example of a man. The scoundrel got off too easy. He should have been hanged.

Fortune Telling

Does not take into consideration the one essential to wom-an's happiness—womanly health. The woman who neglects her health is neglecting the very foundation of all good fortune. For without health love loses its lustre and gold is but dross. Womanly health when lost or impaired may generally be regained by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

This Prescription has, for over 40 years, been curing delicate, weak, pain-wracked women, by the hundreds of thousands and this too in the privacy of their homes without their having to submit to indelicate questionings and offensively repug-nant examinations.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free. All correspondence held as sacredly confidential. Address World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y. Dr. Pierce's Great Family Doctor Book, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, newly revised up-to-date edition—1000 pages, answers in Plain English hosts of delicate questions which every woman, single or married, ought to know about. Sent free, in plain wrapper to any address on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to cover mailing only, or in cloth binding for 31 stamps.

Where it Circulated

There lives an editor in interior Pennsylvania, "Jim" Sweeney by name, who has a keen sense of humor. Seeking to increase his fortune Sweeney once wrote to a prospective advertiser, setting forth in attractive fashion the value of his paper as a medium of publicity. The advertiser was cap-tivated by Sweeney's letter, but, desirous of more specific assurances before he invested his money, he wrote to Sweeney saying that he hadn't heard of The Sentinel. "Where does it circulate?" he asked.

And in his illuminating way Sweeney wrote back:

"The Sentinel circulates in Eu-rope, Asia, Africa, North and South America, and it is just about all I can do to keep it from going to hell."

New Advertisements.

Glaister & Beyers announce that they carry a full line of staple and fancy groceries and as their motto is quick sales and small profits, we bespeak for this new firm a share of the public patronage.

A. D. Graham, proprietor of the Woodleaf Park Cosh Store, near Boyes Hot Springs, having bought out the Gowan, former owners of the store, is out for his share of the public patronage, and we predict he will get it, too, as he is well known throughout the valley.

Mrs. V. Greenfeld, registered midwife and nurse, publishes her professional card elsewhere in these columns. She announces among other things a private home for confinements, when preferable, and makes no charge for consultation or examination. Her residence is on Spain street between First and Second streets East.

Recognition of Merit.

N. V. V. Smyth, who is the engineer having in charge the planning of a sewer system for Sonoma, was re-appointed City Engineer of Santa Rosa by Mayor Edwards and his fellow members of the City Council. Mr. Smyth is recognized everywhere as being a civil engineer of fine ability and has made good in Santa Rosa, Sebastopol and other places. In securing his services for perfecting a system of sewerage for this city our City Trustees have made no mistake.

More Political Dope.

It is going the rounds in political circles that Chief Deputy County Clerk Jack Ford will be the Democratic nominee for County Clerk to succeed Fred L. Wright. W. W. Felt Jr., Secretary of the Republican County Central Committee, is also being mentioned for that office by prominent Republicans in various sections of the county.

NEW OFFICIALS

SWORN INTO OFFICE

Mayor Geo. Breitenbach and

Trustee Bates Succeeded by

M. E. Cummings and

Chas. Dal Poggetto.

At an adjourned meeting of the old Board of City Trustees held last Monday evening, all the members were present with the exception of Trustee Bates, who is absent in the East.

The Board was called to order by presiding officer Geo. Breitenbach, whose last official act was the appointment of Dr. Frederick Leix as Library Trustee, vice Chas. Dal Poggetto, Trustee-elect, who resigned to sit as a member of the Board.

After the business of the old Board had been wound up the newly-elected officials to-wit: M. E. Cummings, Chas. Dal Poggetto and John Wagon Trustee; H. W. Gottenberg, Clerk; Jas. H. Albertson, City Marshal and Tax Collector; and Jesse Burris, Treasurer, took the oath of office and Mayor Breitenbach retired, after serving eight years upon the Board, the last four of which he has been its presiding officer.

The new President took the appointment of his committees under advisement and will name his appointees at an adjourned meeting to be held Monday evening next.

The sewer proposition will also be taken up where the old Board left off and it will be the aim of Mayor Cummings and his fellow Trustees to submit the matter to the voters at a special election as soon as the necessary ordinances are introduced, passed and published.

Before adjourning Trustee McDonnell paid a high tribute to the retiring members, Messrs. Geo. Breitenbach and H. F. Bates. Among other things he said that a City Trustee of Sonoma should go ahead and perform his duty regardless of the complaints of carping critics—that one may please the people some of the time but never all the people all the time.

An Incurable Youth.

A seventeen-year-old youth hailing from Petaluma, son of a prominent minister of that city, was arrested in Vineburg last Tuesday by Deputy Sheriff Joe Ryan, while making a get-away in the direction of Napa.

The youngster is Kenneth Scudder, son of J. M. Schudder, and recently ran away from home. He made his appearance at the ranch of Jas. Tate and asked for work. He was taken in and given light employment about the place. On Tuesday morning, while Mr. and Mrs. Tate were visiting a neighbor on Sonoma creek, Scudder forced his way into the house by breaking a window. While ransacking the bedroom, Mr. Tate after reaching the neighbor's discovered that he had left his purse containing $65 in his bedroom and had returned for it, just in time to catch young Scudder searching for it. He immediately phoned to officer Ryan but before he arrived on the scene the youth had lit out from the ranch. He was soon overtaken by the officer, however, as narrated above, and later on was locked up in the city jail. The next morning Deputy Sheriff McIntosh came down from Santa Rosa and took charge of the prisoner, who has a very bad record.

The boy who has frequently been in trouble before but recently been released from custody on parole. He will now be sent to the reform school at Ione.

DEATH OF A PIONEER MOTHER.

Mrs. P. H. Thompson, Wife of Ex-Supervisor Thompson, Passes

Away at Her Home

on Broadway.

Mrs. P. H. Thompson, wife of ex-Supervisor Thompson of this place, died at her home on Broadway early Wednesday morning.

The news of Mrs. Thompson's death was a great shock to the people of Sonoma and vicinity, as up to a few months ago, the deceased was in fairly good health.

Mrs. Thompson was one of the pioneer mothers of the Sonoma Valley, having come here with her husband, P. H. Thompson, in the early days and located on their farm in the extreme eastern part of the valley on the Napa road.

Here it was that Mrs. Thompson lived for 35 years until a few months ago when the ranch was sold to the Stornetti Bros. The Thompsons then purchased the Ed. Johansen home on Broadway and moved into town.

The deceased was a prominent Eastern Star woman and was Past Grand Matron of Valley of the Moon Chapter of this city.

Mrs. Thompson, who was a good woman and a kind neighbor, is survived by her husband, P. H. Thompson, two sons and three daughters, all residing in this valley. The sons and daughters are Frank and Ralph Thompson, Miss Mary Thompson, Mrs. Joseph Potter and Mrs. Florence Cutter. The deceased was a native of Denmark and aged 67 years.

Woman's Club Notes.

At the short business meeting, delegates from the Glen Ellen Club asked for further information regarding the Carnival of Nations in which their Club had been invited to join.

One new name was proposed for membership.

Any lady wishing to study one or more plays of Henrik Ibsen was invited to meet with the Educational Section next Friday at 3 p. m. at the home of Mrs. P. N. Stofen.

After a charming duet by Misses Amelia Cucci and Mary Pinelli, Mrs. Stofen gave the club a graphic and interesting report of the annual meeting of the State Federation held last week in Santa Barbara. The Federation urges its auxiliaries to work harder than ever along the lines of sanitation and education. Many prominent people addressed the gathering, among them being Charles R. Brown and Governor Gillett.

Next Friday, April 29th, the regular business meeting will be held, when further plans will be made for a good entertainment in the near future, by which funds can be raised for advertising and arranging the grand July Carnival.

Trout Fishing.

The fishing in the various trout streams in this valley, and there are at least sixteen of them, has been quite poor since the season opened, and baskets of twenty-five or thirty have been the exception and not the rule. The cause of this is not, as is generally supposed, on account of the streams being fished out. The fish are there all right, but on account of the natural food in the streams at the present time the trout do not care for bait. Next month, however, this food, consisting of grubs and other insects, will have been consumed, when the fish will greedily take the hook unless they have been scared to death by the armies of small boys who invade our trout streams on Saturdays and Sundays and play "hooky" on the other days of the week to go a-fishin'.

Mr. James Eastland, brother of Dr. Eastland, is here from San Francisco and will in a day or two be joined by his family. They will make a short visit here.

Mr. J. H. Moore, for many years manager of Rudolph Spreckels racing stables at Sobro Vista, has been under the weather the past few weeks. He is under treatment of Dr. Hays at Green's sanitarium and is now able to be up and around.

S. Campanella, for a number of years a resident of this place and who left here eight or ten years ago, was in town this week visiting friends. Mr. Campanella has been located in Santa Cruz the past five years, where he is engaged in the steamship agency business.

Mrs. R. J. Snyder is now occupying her new bungalow recently erected on her big farm southwest of town. For the past year she has made her home in San Rafael, but like all old residents who have gone abroad, says there is no place like the Sonoma Valley.

Millers Sell their Home Here

"Orange Lawn," the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Miller, located on Napa street, in the eastern suburbs of town, has been sold to Wm. Ozdorff of San Francisco, who will occupy the place as a country home. The sale was consummated through the real estate agency of O. Wagner.

CITY OF SONOMA AGAIN LOSES SUIT

Judge Denny Renders Opinion in Suit of Quartaroli, et al., vs. City of Sonoma

The City of Sonoma again loses a law suit growing out of the building of its New City Hall four years ago and the failure of contractor MacQuiddy to complete the job. The contract was let in 1905 and owing to the big earthquake in April, 1906, and other unforeseen circumstances MacQuiddy was compelled to throw up the contract. The city then took possession of the uncompleted building and seized upon everything in sight in the way of building material and converted it to its own use.

Now, this of course, while apparently a snap pick up for the city, was not to the liking of a whole lot of people who claimed the material, and objected to the city getting something for nothing. Among the first to object to this system of financing our new hall of justice was the Steiger Terra Cotta Co. of San Francisco, which claimed $600 or $700 worth of tiling which had been shipped to contractor MacQuiddy, but had not yet been used nor paid for.

The Steiger people thereupon made a demand upon the city for the value of the material seized, but was refused compensation for the same. The company then sued the city and won out after the suit had went through the ramifications of all the courts, recovering judgment for the full amount sued for, interest and costs.

Following in the wake of this suit came that of Quartaroli et al., vs. The City of Sonoma, just decided, after months of waiting, by Judge Denny. This suit was similar to the Steiger suit, and was brought to recover a much larger sum of money, something over $4000 as yet and of course cannot criticize it. To a layman, however, it would appear that the plaintiffs have been cut off from an appeal to a higher court and they win to lose.

Mother of C. T. Ryland Passes Away.

Mrs. C. T. Ryland, widow of the late Senator Ryland and mother of C. T. Ryland of this city, passed away at her home in San Jose last Sunday evening.

Mrs. Ryland was a pioneer mother of California, having come to these shores immediately after the discovery of gold. She was the daughter of Peter G. Burnett, the first Governor of the State after it was ceded to the United States by the Mexican government.

Senator and Mrs. Ryland for years were the most prominent people in California. They early took up their residence in Santa Clara county, which the Senator represented for several terms in the upper house of the Legislature. In his day he was a brilliant lawyer and one of the leading Democrats of the State. Mrs. Ryland in her younger days took a leading part in all the social functions in Sacramento, San Jose and San Francisco. She was a woman of gracious manners, pleasing personality and quiet dignity, which was in keeping with her position as the daughter of a Governor and the wife of one of California's leading Senators.

For years and since the death of the Senator, Mrs. Ryland has lived in quiet retirement at her home in San Jose.

Mrs. Ryland when she passed to her reward had reached the remarkable age of 88 years, over sixty of which she had lived in this State.

The funeral took place from the old Ryland homestead in San Jose last Wednesday and was largely attended.

Mrs. Hansen has sold her 10½ acre farm near El Verano to N. Bohlig of Marysville, who will take possession immediately.

Fell and Broke an Arm.

Henry Koerner, proprietor of the Oak Grove Resort, El Verano, met with a painful accident on Thursday of last week. While repairing an elevated water tank he made a misstep and fell to the ground, a distance of eight or ten feet, breaking his left arm above the wrist. Dr. Hays set the broken arm, which will have to remain in splints for some time.

$100 REWARD $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Oats Resolution

Determining that the Public Interest and the Public Necessity Demand a Certain Municipal Improvement in and for the City of Sonoma, the Cost of Which will be too Great to be Paid out of the Ordinary Annual Income and Revenue of said City.

Resolved by the Board of Trustees of the City of Sonoma that:

Section 1. Whereas, The public interest and the public necessity demand a certain public municipal improvement in and for the City of Sonoma, to-wit: a complete sewer system and system of sewers, including all lands, rights of way, leases, structures, reservoirs, wells, tanks, all materials for such sewer system and system of sewers, including sewer pipe with the necessary Y, T and other branches, reducers, cast iron pipe for creek crossings, cement, sand, lumber, man holes complete with cast iron covers, lamp holes complete with cast iron covers, flush tanks complete with syphons and cast iron covers, brick and concrete water pipes and fittings and machinery for water for flushing sewers, septic tanks and buildings, setting tanks, filter beds and ditches, drain tiles and other materials necessary for the treatment and disposal of sewage, which public interest appears and which necessity arises from the fact that the City of Sonoma is now without any system or plan whatever for the effective or any disposal of sewage or waste from the houses and streets of said city; that the comfort, convenience and health of the inhabitants of the City of Sonoma imperatively require that an effective and modern up-to-date sewer system and system of sewers for the disposal of sewage and waste be established for said city; that it is imperative; also, for the health of the inhabitants of said city that a sewer system and system of sewers be established in such water courses from land into the brewery and other manufacturing establishments, and to prevent the pollution and contamination of such water courses thereby, and to prevent sickness and epidemics liable to arise therefrom.

Section 2. And, Whereas, the Board of Trustees of the City of Sonoma, being the legislative branch of said city, contemplate the acquisition, construction and completion of such sewer system and system of sewers, with everything pertaining thereto as herein above set forth, for said city and for municipal uses.

Section 3. And, Whereas, the said Board of Trustees has had plans and estimates of the cost of said municipal improvement made by a competent civil and sanitary engineer, he being one who has had successful experience in such work, which plans and estimates have been reported to said Board and examined and approved by it.

And, Whereas, according to said plan and estimates, the estimated cost of said proposed public municipal improvement is the sum of Twenty Thousand ($20,000.00) Dollars, in gold coin of the United States; that is to say, according thereto, the estimated cost of the acquisition, construction and completion by said city of said sewer system and system of sewers for municipal uses is the sum of Twenty Thousand ($20,000.00) Dollars.

And, Whereas, this Board has approved and adopted said plans and estimates, and hereby estimates the cost of said proposed public municipal improvement at, and determines the cost thereof to be, the said amount lastly set forth as aforesaid.

And, Whereas, said amount is the estimated cost of said municipal improvement.

Section 4. And, Whereas, said amount, to-wit: Twenty Thousand ($20,000.00) Dollars, the cost of the acquisition, construction and completion of said sewer system and system of sewers, for municipal uses, is an amount too great to be paid out of the ordinary annual income and revenue of said city.

Section 5. Now, therefore, the Board of Trustees of said City of Sonoma, being the legislative branch of said municipality, does hereby and by this resolution determine that the public interest and public necessity demand such public improvement in and for said City of Sonoma, to-wit: a complete sewer system and system of sewers, with everything pertaining thereto as herein above set forth. And said Board does hereby further determine that the cost of said municipal improvement will be too great to be paid out of the annual income and revenue of said city. And the said Board does hereby further determine that all necessary and proper proceedings be and the same shall be taken and had as provided by the laws of the State of California, for the purpose and to the end of having and making such public municipal improvement.

The above and foregoing resolution was passed and adopted at a regular meeting of the Board of Trustees of the City of Sonoma, held on Wednesday, the sixth day of April, 1910, by the following vote, viz:

Four ayes, and in favor of the adoption of the resolution: Trustees Breitenbach, McDonnell, Quartaroli and Wagon. No noes, and against the adoption of said resolution, none.

Absent, Trustee Bates.

President of the Board of Trustees of the City of Sonoma.

Tonic or Stimulant?

There is an immense difference between a tonic and a stimulant. Up one day, way back the next; that's a stimulant. Steady progress day by day toward perfect health; that's a tonic. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a tonic, a strong tonic. The only Sarsaparilla entirely free from alcohol. Do not stimulate unless your doctor says so. He knows. Ask him. Do as he says. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Constipation is the one great cause of sick-headache, biliousness, indigestion, bad breath, debility, nervousness. Has your doctor ever recommended Ayer's Pills to you?

Motor Car Ser Through S

The proposition of a motor car service of the former city and county has been appealed to for a jury. It is now behove to the mountain sides, every assistance hard ice and snow.

Willard The mountain sheep As if by magic and with little apparent effort the two Eskimos flew up the slippery walls, far outstripping me. How they did it I shall never know.

"I was astonished even at my own progress, and when I paused to glance behind me I felt a momentary panic. But there was no turning back, and one look robbed me of any desire to try it."

"The Eskimo has no conception of distance. He is endowed with certain artistic instincts which enable him to draw a fairly good map of a coast line with which he is thoroughly familiar, but he cannot tell you how far it is from one point to another. Often when Eskimos told me a place we were bound for was very close at hand it developed that we were far from it. This they are never sure of and cannot indicate."

"The Eskimos have a white man 'stung to death' from every point of view. They not only can go to sleep promptly, but sleep soundly and well as they travel when circumstances permit. They get sustenance, too, by eating hard frozen walrus and seal meat or blubber. This I could never do, for it is so strong in flavor that it invariably nauseated me, though I did succeed very well with raw hare or deer's meat when I had it."

BLUNDERING REPORTERS.

Mistakes That Mangled the Speakers' Words and Feelings.

"Drunkness is folly!" earnestly exclaimed Bishop Magee in the house of lords on a celebrated occasion. How horrified was the prelate to read in the papers next morning that he had given utterance to the very bacchanalian sentiment, "Drunkness is jolly!"

Lord Salisbury was a master phrase-maker, but one of his best points was spoiled when a careless reporter turned his reference to "manacles and Manitoba" into the meaningless "manacles and men at the bar."

Sir William Harcourt was badly misquoted once. "Great is Diana of the Ephesians!" he exclaimed upon the platform, but a country paper had it: "Great Dinah! What a farce is this!"

Lack of knowledge of familiar quotations is a prolific source of misreporting. For instance, a speaker once made use of the well known lines from Milton's "L'Allegro."

But come, thou goddess, fair and free, In heaven ye slept Euphrosyne. The country reporter deputed to "take him down" was in despair. He could not make head or tail of this mysterious utterance. But, following the sound as far as possible, he seized his pen and produced the following gem:

But come, thou goddess, fair and free, In heaven she crept and froze her knee. The speaker was taken down in more senses than one—London Answers.

Knew Where He Was.

"When I was studying in Boston," said a musician, "they used to tell a tale about a man named Harper, an odd old character, who played a trombone in one of the small theaters there. One time they were rehearsing a new overture. Throughout the piece Harper was a little behind the rest of the men. Before they started it a second time the leader reproved Harper for not coming in more regularly with the other players. When they attempted it again Harper came in, as usual, two or three beats behind time. The leader stopped and, after letting loose a lot of profanity, demanded to know if the trombonist knew he was playing about half a dozen notes behind the others."

"Harper nodded. 'That's all right,' said he. 'I can catch up with the others any time I want to.'"—Philadelphia Telegraph.

His Great Loss.

"Aye, maister," was the reply, "it wur a bad year for I. I did lose my missus, I did lose my canary, and I did lose my dog. And it wur a good dog too."—London News.

Self Protection.

"You didn't really need a wig," "I was driven to it. Now the barber won't try to sell me any tonics or hair restorer."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Never add the burden of yesterday's trouble to that of tomorrow. The one is past; the other may never come.

Method. Method is the very hinge of business, and there is no method without punctuality. Punctuality is important because it subserves the peace and good temper of a family. Calmness of mind, which it produces, is another advantage of punctuality. A disorderly man is always in a hurry. He has no time to speak to you because he is going elsewhere, and when he gets there he is too late for his business or he must hurry away before he can finish it.

Siamese Tobacco. The best tobacco in Siam is grown at Petchabun. It is planted in open fields near the town after the floods in September or October, and the first crop, or tips, which is considered the best quality, is gathered about February and the last about the beginning of May. The very best quality cannot be purchased, as it is reserved for the special use of the king and sent down to Bangkok, where it is smoked in the palace and distributed to the chief officers of state.

Never Learned How to Live. There are people who go through life looking for slights, and they are necessarily miserable, for they find grievances everywhere. One has the same pity for such men as for the very poor. They are the morally illiterate. They have had no real education, for they have never learned how to live.

Still in the Family. Jack—My grandfather had a very fine collection of silver, which he bequeathed to my father on the condition that it should always remain in the family. Ethel—Then you have it still? Jack—Well—er—my uncle has it.

His Suspicious Aroused. Reggie—I hear you've broken it all off with Edna. Archie—I should say so. That pet parrot of hers is all the time saying, "Kiss me again, Jack." That isn't my name, you know.—Lip-placott's.

Parts of Speech. Teacher—Thomas, what are the parts of speech? Tommy Tucker (after an exhaustive mental effort)—It's the way a man talks when he stutters.

The Better Scheme. "The man who knows just what he wants is bound to be successful." "Not half so much as the man who knows he doesn't get what he wants."—Cleveland Leader.
